

SIKESTON STANDARD

Southeast Missouri's Leading Semi-Weekly

VOLUME 25

SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1937

NUMBER 62

The City Clerk is very much pleased with the payments coming in for curb and gutters and paving of the streets. Those who can be requested to make their payments as soon as possible in order the City can act as sponsor for other blocks or streets. The streets already paved are more than satisfactory to the abutting property owners.

The Standard editor was honored with a visit Tuesday from Judge Vandivort, of Cape Girardeau, who was transacting business in Sikeston.

The Standard editor may have a damage suit on his hands by changing in the proof of the letter D in a name when it should have been R. It seems that Miss Mary Ramage, of Festus, has been secured as one of the able aids to Miss Mickie Simmons in her beauty academy, and when the proof hit the editor's desk the word Ramage seemed so odd that he changed it to Damage which is a frequent occurrence and that is the way it happened.

The man who puts his hands on small girls in the manner in which we have been told, contributes to their delinquency when they are older, is a degenerate of the first water, and should be put where he can think long and lonesome of a mispent life.

During the week there has been a great many panhandlers in Sikeston, among them some fine looking able bodied men, who have asked for help. It is hard to turn down a fellow when he is hungry but when three or four hit you for help within an hour, nickels and dimes soon disappear. Two very ordinary looking women were begging of every passerby and every store Monday. They had with them a man who kept out of sight by the Missouri Pacific station. They probably had more money than any of the numerous individuals whom they stopped on the streets and who gave them some change. Not an officer in sight to interfere with their shake-down game. They were poor white trash if any ever blew into town.

Federal Judge Otis, at Kansas City, is calling for a new grand jury to investigate vote frauds in that city. He has ordered that no members of the jury be drawn from Kansas City or Jackson County. It has been said that it will require three years to investigate and try all election judges and clerks who were supposed to have made false returns in the last election. There was no politics in the returns—nearly 100 per cent Democratic. Even the Republican judges and clerks were unanimous in approving the big Democratic vote. Nearly every one who has been tried has been convicted. If a Federal Grand Jury could investigate some of the late city elections in Sikeston, some of the boys would be convicted and sent to the penitentiary and they know it.

The Court of Appeals in New York State has handed down an opinion that a wife is not a husband's property. In the State of Missouri we have heard it said that some wives are any man's property, and this is not personal.

From Washington comes word that Congressman R. F. Wood, labor organizer, was being groomed as a candidate against Senator Bennett C. Clark, up for re-election in 1938. Mr. Wood is backed by John L. Lewis, a trouble maker under the name of C. I. O., which is at the bottom of about all the strikes in the United States. Well, between the two, we are 100 per cent for Bennett Clark who has guts enough to speak his sentiments on public questions and is much safer for all peoples than a man of Woods calibre and Lewis' communistic leanings. Factories and business plants have never in years been blessed with such prospects then came along Lewis and caused minority sit-down strikes. No, sir, give us brains and guts and fewer labor agitators.

Sorry we were not at our desk Wednesday when Rev. Ino. O. Ensor, of Donelson, Tenn., made his call. The Reverend is a friendly man and the sort one likes to meet on any occasion. He was pastor of the Methodist church in this city a few years ago and left behind many friends who are always glad to meet him when he returns for a visit.

The editor is in receipt of a very fine letter from Muriel Hurt written from Hannibal, Mo., where she expects to spend the summer. On the way up she stopped in St. Louis for a short visit with Fr. Thos. Woods, former Priest of the Sikeston parish, and reports him well. We hope the change will be beneficial to her health.

Junior Chamber Endorses Library and Park Issues

The Junior Chamber of Commerce at their meeting at the Palace Cafe Tuesday night voted unanimously to support wholeheartedly the coming bond issues to raise money for a Municipal Library and a Recreation Park. The issues to be voted upon are, $20,000 for the library and $15,000 for a recreation park at the sight of the present airport east of town.

Dr. Dunaway, chairman of the park beautification committee reported 6 shrubs, 10 deciduous and 9 evergreen trees planted and seven bunches of hedge and other trees transplanted in the Railroad Park near the Missouri Pacific station.

He reported splendid cooperation from the Mayor Fuchs and the Street and Water Departments in the furnishing of labor tools and hose. Later a hedge will be moved to the sides surrounding the park and rails were secured from the Missouri Pacific Railroad to put around the drive to prevent cars running over the grass and shrubs. In the near future the city will fill in the low places in the park with dirt so that proper drainage may be obtained.

Bricks taken from paved crossing will be used to build one needed path across the park and other will be eliminated. Cline Ables planned the landscaping and the general arrangement of the park shrubbery. Two hundred feet of hose and four sprinklers will be furnished by the city to keep the park watered this summer. The chamber voted to add $25.00 to the amount already appropriated for park beautification. NYA labor will be available for the park after the first of May.

John Sikes of the athletic committee reported the schedule for the soft ball season completed and the first game will be Monday night, May 10, rather than May 3, as was first planned. The postponement was made necessary by the cold weather and the fact that the ground is not yet in shape. A copy of the schedule is found elsewhere in the paper.

All members of the Chamber were invited to visit the Cotton Oil Mill in a letter from the manager in reply to a letter from the organization complementing them on their recent landscaping of the Oil Mill property. Smoky Sutton announced that Vernon Peak's orchestra had been secured for the beauty pageant and dance on the night of June 7. William Sidwell, new president of the Junior Chamber presided, and two new members, Joe Emerson and Elmer Pogue were accepted. Four visitors, Ted Gast, Cliff Burns, Mr. Garner and F. M. Casey were present.

IN MEMORY OF E. E. ARTHUR WHO PASSED AWAY ONE YEAR AGO

I want to write a poem if I can
But I know that you will understand;
So many times I've thought of you,
How patient you were to E. E. and true.

It's been so lonely for you since he went home,
I know you've not allowed your thoughts to roam.
You've done your best to be cheerful,
And smiled when your eyes were tearful.

We each must do our work and part of his,
And then we will receive partial bliss;
We will try to do what he would have done,
And by so doing, feel that his race was run.

I believe that E. E. is busy in the skies,
I believe on God's errands his spirit flies.
While here on earth he was a blessing to others,
He was ever busy working for his fellow-brothers.

When he was going down the street
To hear his chery "Hello" was a real treat;
He greeted the black, as well as the white man,
With a smile and a wave of his hand.

He was a devoted father and husband,
And sacrificed and lived for each beloved one.
He praised and dearly loved his home,
And from it, he never ceased to roam.

With his whole heart, he loved the church,
These duties he did not shirk.
He attended regularly with his good wife,
For the choir service was a part of his life.

If to us the privilege were given,
To have a radio from earth to heaven;
I believe we'd hear E. E.'s sweet voice
And that would make our hearts rejoice.

For joy our praises would ring,
We would hear him sing,
"In the sweet by and by"
So let us strive to meet him in the sky.

Tonsil Clinic Held Thursday

The tonsil clinic held at the South Grade School Thursday was sponsored by the Sikeston Chapter of the Red Cross. The Kiwanis Club co-operated with the Chapter.

At 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon, twenty-seven children had sustained tonsillectomies and sixty-five others had been examined for the operation.

The basement of the south building was used for operating room, wards and supply rooms and the information desk with Mrs. Billy Keith in charge, was placed on the first floor, to prevent confusion. The Red Cross furnished sandwiches, milk and other foods to the mothers of the operated children so it would not be necessary for them to leave the building for lunch.

The Rev. E. H. Orear, Scott County Red Cross Chairman, and Mrs. G. C. Baker, social service chairman made the necessary preparations for the clinic. Mrs. Della Poe, County School Nurse, made many of the examinations prior to Thursday.

Dillman Wins Match Easily; To Meet Leavitt Next Week

"Dynamite" Joe Dillman proved to be much too much for "Curly Haired" Jack Kenney and took him from two straight falls in the wrestling bouts at the Armory Wednesday night. Dealing out the misery to Kenny didn't seem to satisfy Bullett-Head Joe so he let "Pretty Boy" Penny of Steele, Mo., the referee, have it now and then just for good measure.

Dillman won the first fall in 12 minutes with a front crotch and body hold after some kneeing and jabbing that looked a little questionable to the fans. He took the second fall in 5 minutes with a crab hold preceded by punishing leg locks and some mighty rough treatment in general.

In the preliminary match Bad Boy Brown, of the shaved head and long black beard, took the first fall from Tex Riley in 14 minutes with a punishing toe hold, but Riley came back and took the next two falls in short order and made his best showing of any Sikeston appearance. Brown kept the referee busy breaking strangle holds and disentangling him from the ropes. Riley took the second fall in 7 minutes with a flying tackle and the third in 8½ minutes with a crotch flip. Brown seemed bent on fouling and Riley had to remove a tape from his wrist that was being used to punish him.

Promoter Mike Meroney announced a good card for next week with Joe Dillman and Frenchy Leavitt in the main event and Charles Sinky versus Frank Black, 193-pound Chicago wrestler in the preliminary. Black is a newcomer to Sikeston and has a good reputation as a clean wrestler. Meroney will referee the matches.

Zimmerman Assails Delay In Plans For Flood Control

Washington, April 28.—Rep. Orville Zimmerman of Kennett, Mo., told the National Rivers and Harbors Congress today delay is the greatest obstacle to flood control. He said there was a tendency "to fiddle while Rome burns" as "apostles of delay" ask more time to study the problem.

Zimmerman said army engineers, as the request of the congressional flood control committee, had worked out a comprehensive flood control plan after the January floods but the proposal had not yet reached Congress.

"Many of us believe it is sleeping the sleep of the death until another disastrous flood," said Zimmerman, a member of the committee.

Zimmerman said the problem was to get the money "regardless of the condition of the budget." He suggested if Congress fails to allocate funds for flood control a portion of relief funds should be earmarked for such work.

AUXILIARY MEETING HELD MONDAY EVENING

The regular meeting of the Auxiliary of the American Legion was held Monday evening, April 26, at the home of Mrs. Robley Lennox with a good attendance.

Mrs. C. L. Blanton told the members of the proposed library and club room, the bonds for which will be voted on at a special election of May 18, and urged all members to work for the passage of same.

Plans were also made for a dinner party to be held at the Marshall Hotel sometime during May in celebration of the Auxiliary's tenth anniversary, at which the ladies will entertain their husbands.

The unemployed father's entrance into the domestic scene is evidence by a telephone call recently received at the Chicago Public Library from a man who wanted to know what "emerlettes" were. Being told, he explained that the family was out and he had decided to surprise them with a frozen salad upon their return, but he was baffled when he came to "emerlettes" in the recipe. A similar call was from a man who was in a great hurry to get some books on preserving and jelly making. His wife was making jelly and it wasn't getting thick. Many a library thus serves as culinary adviser.

HAVE YOUR CHILDREN READ THESE BOOKS?

The books listed below are in the permanent collection of Children's books at the Library—some of them being recent additions.

"The Poppy Seed Cakes" by Margery Clark illustrated by Maud and Miska Petersham. These are quaint little stories of Andrews and his auntie Katucka and of Erminka and her little brother, little Russian-American children. The stories have little plot but much delightful repetition and they are peculiarly fascinating to the little folks. This book is especially noteworthy from an artistic standpoint. In addition to the full pages in color, each page is beautifully decorated with artistic motifs appropriate to the story.

"Just So Stories" by Rudyard Kipling.

All children should have the pleasure of hearing these incomparable stories read aloud, how the whale got his trunk and all the rest, matchless in their pattern and word play.

"Smoky" by Will James. Just about the best horse story ever written. The Newberry prize book for 1927. Now that "Black Beauty" is outdated because of the passing of the horse and the checkrein. "Smoky" has more than taken its place. It is without the preaching of "Black Beauty" and its story of a company is a fascinating narrative with a universal appeal.

"The Covered Bridge" by Cornelia Meigs, 1936.

A story of two children and their experiences during a winter spent on a Vermont farm in the early 1800's. Ethan Allen appears in the story. The story is full of real adventure told in a quiet way. It is written with a warmth that shows the affection of the author for Vermont. Cornelia Meigs has written many excellent stories for young folks.

"Mary Poppins" by P. L. Travers, 1934.

"Mary Poppins Comes Back" 1935.

Mary Poppins is the astonishing nursemaid who could slide up bannisters and perform many feats of magic—A delightful new character, a fresh creation who will go Marching on triumphantly, umbrella, carpet bag, and white gloves—after the Marys of contemporary novels are forgotten. The most savory and original book for all ages that has come out of England since "Winnie the Pooh."

"Lad a Doy" by Albert Payson Terhune.

An enormously popular book

Dining Room Light "As You Like It"

Ivory, brass and crystal are pleasingly combined in the graceful fixture shown here, which provides soft, flexible lighting for every purpose.

By Jean Prentice

DINING ROOMS are becoming more versatile every day. It seems. Time was when their main function was to bring the family together at meal time. Today, with greater use being made of available space, we find dining rooms serving as centers for reading, studying, card games, and other family pursuits, as well.

These varying demands upon the dining room are bringing with them added provisions for the eyes. Lighting that may be ample for cutting a steak may be insufficient for cutting a dress from a mail-order pattern, reading the fine print of a newspaper, or adding columns of figures.

And so we find an increasing number of smart new dining room lighting fixtures appearing on the market. Not only do these new units harmonize with any decorative scheme; they are capable of providing ing varying amounts of light for different seeing requirements. Many of them use the new three-light bulbs, which give three different amounts of light from one bulb, at successive turns of the switch. When the fixture has a glass bowl, like the one shown in the accompanying illustration, most of the light is sent to the table (where it belongs!), while the other parts of the room are softly and subtly lit.

Fixtures of this type please the lighting whims of both the hostess, who likes to include lighted candles in the table setting, and the host who dislikes dimness.

If your dining room has one of the older type of candle-unit fixtures, you can modernize it and make it more attractive by replacing amber, flame-shaped bulbs with 40-watt inside-frosted lamps, and shielding them with parchment shades of the slip-on variety. These shades are pleasing in appearance, and, at the same time, banish glare and soften the light for dining.

Washington Comment

When private citizens meet by chance in the barber shop or on the street, it is common enough to ask: "How's business?" but no one puts that inquiry to the government, perhaps because it does not go to the barber-shop, although it does get trimmed now and then, as the unpaid war debts bear witness. If asked, the well known and important character called Uncle Sam, whose name is not in the telephone book or directory, would have to admit that business is just so-so. Revenue has fallen off, particularly that expected from income taxes, and so it comes about that something will have to be done. The President has asked for an appropriation for relief and recovery, adding in substance that hereafter we must cut more nearly in accordance with our cloth. To that sound suggestion, both Democratic and Republican leaders in Congress seem inclined to lend support.

Longfellow's village blacksmith was said to be able to "look the whole world in the face, for he owes not any man." If he had been compelled to manage the federal budget, probably he would have looked out the window, and if the government had nothing but a blacksmith shop on its hands, there would be no talk about being in the red. In any event there is some satisfaction in the thought that those in power glance forward to the day when the cork can be put in the red ink bottle and hammered home.

Speaking of money matters, any one who thinks that the U. S. A. puts its foot down hard when the tax collecting Doodson comes around, will do well to turn his attention to Britain for a moment. Over there they are going to have a twenty-five per cent levy on incomes, and for arming and defense, at that. It is to be hoped that carrier forgot to deliver at the door of the income tax unit in Washington, the particular morning paper which contained that bit of news. It might put bad notions into heads that have enough bad notions already. A twenty-five per cent tax on incomes can be reduced without difficulty to a statement which all can understand easily. It is equivalent to getting 75 dollars in the pay envelope instead of 100 dollars. Pay and profits, by the way, cannot be considered merely as the cash which appears in hand under those heads. They are rather the money that remains after someone who holds the club has taken out his portion, whether or not the other fellow likes the proceeding.

The state of Michigan used to have a road which was said to narrow down to a foot path, peter out into a squirrel track, run up a tree and end in a squirrel hole. The plan to work changes in the Supreme Court seems to be following just such a highway. According to report, Justices McReynolds, Brandeis and Van Devanter will retire from the bench within the next few months, and it is predicted that Congress will let slide what promised to be definite action on the necessity for an overhauling of the federal courts. Such a course would be doubly unfortunate. Upon the one hand, it would lay those who think that a change in the personnel of the court is necessary open to the charge of getting what they want, through the working of an unlawful hand, it would deprive those who are satisfied with things as they are, of the opportunity of fighting to a finish in which the question would be settled for many years to come. Either the court needs a shaking up or it does not. The issue is of too vital a nature to be thrust aside temporarily by chance or expediency. Neither side will gain in the respect of the general public by dodging through a loophole of escape.

According to the papers, the coronation of King George VI will be attended by Yeta III, paramount of Barotseland a casual but humiliating item which reminds us that there are lots of things that we don't know.

Good books are to the young what the warning sun and refreshing rain of spring are to the seeds which have lain dormant in the frosts of winter.—Horace Mann.

Recently, a test was given high school students on motor vehicles regulations, and some of the questions were so good that I want to repeat them here.

It is well for us to make a test of our own driving ability by answering the following questions:

1. At an intersection which is controlled by traffic lights, do pedestrians or vehicles have the right-of-way?

2. Does the same situation exist at uncontrolled intersections?

3. What is your state's definition of "right-of-way?"

4. What should a driver do when being overtaken and passed by another vehicle?

Take inventory of your driving habits. Be honest. Be sincere. Answer these questions yourself, and see whether or not your driving habits comply with the answers you give.

NEW MADRID CCC CAMP HAS GOOD SAFETY RECORD

Over two hundred days without a lost-time accident! When a group of 160 healthy, active young men, full of youthful spirit and energy, living together, playing together and working together, can go for nearly seven months without an accident, it means that a lot of credit should be passed out to someone for constant attention to the thought of "Safety First." In this case the credit goes to the young men themselves and to the supervisors placed over them in the New Madrid Camp.

The last accident occurred at the camp, in connection with one of the work projects, on September 28, 1936. At the time of this writing, Monday, April 19, 1937, a total of 203 days had elapsed without another accident. The personnel of the New Madrid camp, both the members and the Army and the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Engineering staffs, have become so "safety conscious" that it probably would fare badly for anyone breaking this excellent record.

A record such as this is not accumulated without a great deal of thought and study being expended. Any lost-time accident would be charged against the record, even accidents occurring while the members are on leave in their homes or occurring while engaged in supervised athletics or while indulging in a little "horse-play" in the barracks. "Safety" is preached on every occasion, on the work projects, on the athletic field, in the messhall and in the barracks. Several meetings are held each week at the camp to discuss the cause of accidents and their prevention. It does not take a new man in the camp long to find out that the first thing he must learn is that "Accidents are caused; they don't just happen."

MAN ONCE FRIGHTENED BY OIL ADS

CHANGES TO OIL-PLATING

In spite of everything, it paid him to take ads seriously, you see, else he might never have tried Oil-Plating. First of all he was impressed by the explanation of Oil-Plating.

Simple enough, if you'll think what happens as Johnny's dirty little hands touch the wallpaper. Anything greasy or oily on his hands becomes quite a permanent part of the paper. You'll say permanent!

In much the same way—forgetting technicalities—Conoco Germ Processed oil forms a lasting attachment for every working part of your engine. A genuine, enduring Oil-Plating is brought about by the Germ Process—patented.

Thus the Germ Process not only multiplies the strength of the usual flowing type of oil-film, but creates Oil-Plating besides. And once Oil-Plating goes on, Conoco Germ Processed oil does not let it come off in minutes, hours, days . . . or miles.

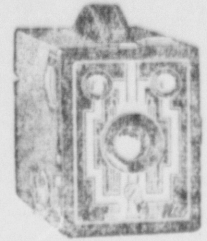

Thus Oil-Plating refuses to let go in all the fury of 5,000 revolutions per minute. That's why your "good old car" or the latest model will stay more like new, with its engine Oil-Plated. And your whole Summer's driving will take less Conoco Germ Processed oil. Continental Oil Company

NO KNOWN CURE FOR TUBERCULOSIS BUT REST

Denouncing as "scoundrels" the unscrupulous individuals who prey upon tuberculosis patients by the sale of so-called cures for the disease, the Missouri Tuberculosis Association has issued a warning against patent medicines

Many persons believe that for every ailment there is remedy which comes in a bottle, and that a cure will be effected if the individual can only locate the right bottle, the tuberculosis association points out. Added to this is the fact that the present regimen of treatment requires a considerable length of time, and tuberculosis patients endeavoring to find a short cut become victims of "guaranteed remedy" vendors.

"The files of the National Tuberculosis Association contain information about hundreds of fake cures, ranging from magnetic belts to inhalators. None has proved of value in the treatment of tuberculosis. Investigation of the testimonials from persons said to have been benefited by these nostrums show that many were dead even before the testimonials were published," according to the association.

Those who suspect they may have tuberculosis are advised to go to a reputable physician for diagnosis and if the disease is discovered, follow his suggestions. Reputable physicians sometimes prescribe medicines to relieve cough or fever, but doing so never claim they are administering a definite cure.

and other nostrums alleged to be specific for consumption.

"Although tuberculosis can be cured by assisting Nature to overcome it through rest, fresh air and nourishing food, medical science has not yet discovered any drug or chemical which will cure the disease," the association states.

"From time to time we receive letters from persons who believe they have a sure cure for tuberculosis. Usually they are well-meaning but uninformed individuals who offer their panaceas free to the waiting world. This group holds but little menace to the tuberculosis, for but few of these alleged cures ever reach the commercial stage. What the consumptive has to fear are the unscrupulous persons who use all the arts of modern advertising to convince him that the long hoped-for specific for his ailment has been discovered."

Everyday Cooking Miracles

BY VIRGINIA FRANCIS

Director Hotpoint Electric Cookery Institute

Fortunately, in these days there are fewer children who, like Topsy, "jes growed;" and there are more and more children who really do grow up straight and strong. Today's rosy-cheeked children are witness to what modern scientific care and conscientious mothers have done to raise the health standard.

The remarkable Thrift Cooker of the modern electric range simplifies preparation of baby foods.

A rigorous regime of milk, sunshine, fresh air, stewed fruits, and vegetables is almost guaranteed to make any youngster a radiantly healthy little being.

And speaking of baby's stewed fruits, vegetables, and cereals, modern mothers are rapidly abandoning the obsolete, all-day method of baby food cookery in favor of the "seven-way" infant diet by one-way cookery" made possible by the Thrift Cooker of the Hotpoint electric range.

Tables Are Turned.

A few years ago menu-making homemakers complained that they had to cook too much of everything. Now the tables are turned and it seems the objectors must cook too little of everything—possibly a "smidgin" of cereal, a handful of peas, and minute quantities of any of the other foods which comprise the very young baby's food repertoire. Let me tell you what this procedure is.

By this miracle "seven-way" method of infant food cookery, the entire day's supply of vegetables, fruits, and cereals are cooked by one process. In the morning they are assembled and prepared for cooking. Then, seven—or more, if you like—small jelly glasses are filled, each with one serving of food. In each of two jelly glasses, mother places 1 tablespoon of pulverized cereal, preferably a different kind in each glass, together with 5 cup water; in the third, green beans, cut in small cubes, with two tablespoons of water and 1 tablespoon of butter; in the fourth, diced carrots with 2 tablespoons of water and 1 tablespoon of butter; in the fifth, 3 prunes well covered with water; in the sixth, one-half cup of sliced pared apple, 1 tablespoon of sugar and 1 tablespoon of water; and in the seventh, cubes of beef. All seven jelly glasses are covered, and then all piled on the rack of the Thrift Cooker in which 1 cup of water has been placed.

Cooked in Thrift Cooker

Then the switch is turned to HIGH. When steam comes from the vent, the switch is turned to LOW and the cooking continues for two or three hours. By this "no watch" cookery procedure the miracle cooker subjects these foods to that long, slow cooking which is so essential for baby's foods. The vegetables and fruits are stewed so that none of the minerals and vitamins are lost in the pouring off of excess juices and cereals are given plenty of time to reach the state of maximum digestibility.

For in Lancaster County dwell the Amish. These people are members of a strict branch of the Mennonites, the religious group that only a short time ago told the government it would contribute to the Social Security fund but would accept no benefits from it. As Mennonites, the Amish adhere to certain beliefs, one of which they are practicing at this time.

Last week and the week before, many members of the sect were in a marrying mood, for it is an Amish tradition that young men and women wed when harvesting is done and when the winter season starts. In carrying out the tradition, the participants stage a ceremony that dates back to that time, hundreds came into being in Southern Europe.

Amish nuptials are festive in character but they are performed only in the presence of Amish folk. Outsiders are not allowed to attend and photographers are kept away. The ceremony fills an all-day program, starting in the early morning with sermons and prayers in one of the farmhouses. After the formalities are over, all the men but the bridegroom leave the house for outdoor games, while the women prepare the wedding feast. Later, the bridegroom is cheered and seized by the unmarried men. Following a time-honored Amish custom, he is then lifted over the barnyard fence to the waiting arms of the married men, a gesture signifying that he has passed from the single state.

The Amish who have been holding these end-of-fall ceremonies believe in religious principles that took root in Italy and Switzerland under the guidance of Jacob Amen in 1673. Their prayers and hymns, which belong to the early days of Protestantism, have been heard in Lancaster County for about 200 years.

Male members of the sect wear broad-brimmed hats over square-cut hair. In addition, after their marriage, they grow heavy beards. The women wear small black bonnets and plain woolen clothes of dark colors. The dresses have hooks and eyes instead of buttons.

Because of their religious beliefs, the Amish object to jury duty and militarism. They were excused from service in the World War but helped raise funds for the Allies. More recently, they have refused Federal farm aid, although they pay taxes to support relief costs, no one among them has gone off the welfare rolls of Lancaster County.

The Amish never go to law or dabble in politics. They do not own pleasure cars, photographs, bicycles, musical instruments and hymn books with notes.

In Ohio the Amish carry coffins on two gas pipes, as they do not believe in having ornamental handles on them.

There are two sects in Ohio, the "Hook-and-Eye Dutch" and "Button Dutch" according to their belief in regard to the method of fastening their clothes.

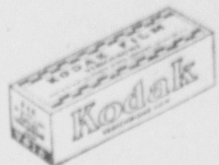

When an Amish person commits a sin he is brought before a church committee where he is tried like in a regular court. Should he be considered guilty he is not permitted to eat with his family for a long time. He eats in a corner and uses tin plates, tin knives and tin forks.—The Pathfinder.

One of the most interesting and promising forage plants is a "sweet" sweetclover found by United States Department of Agriculture explorers in the Chihli province of China. Although the new plant is a poor producer it does not contain coumarin, a substance that imparts a bitter taste to domestic sweetclovers. In preliminary tests department scientists were unable to cross it with domestic varieties, as its blooms are self-fertile, but by working with the plant, they found a means to determine accurately the coumarin content of domestic varieties. If the cross cannot be made, there is a chance of finding a domestic sweetclover with a low coumarin content.

A chemist waiting in the Chicago Public Library for a Bureau of Standards publication which he had requested, noticed a Smithsonian report on the cobra which had happened to be lying on the reference librarian's desk. When his Bureau of Standards publication came he took it and the Smithsonian publications to one of the tables, but he never opened the Standards bulletin, because he became so fascinated with the subject in the Smithsonian report. From then on he read everything he could find on reptiles, and spent his vacation in Texas hunting snakes. As a result of his studies, he got in touch with Dr. Dittmar of the American Museum of Natural History, and went as a member of Dr. Dittmar's staff, to make a three-year study of reptiles in South America.

Listen to this and weep. Trained nurses have examined children of both grade schools and the Catholic school and found a number who needed their tonsils removed in order to prevent ailments that come from diseased tonsils. Some parents refused to let their children go under the knife for fear of some imaginary after effect, we suppose. Local physicians were present at the grade school Thursday to assist the special surgeons who performed the operations, as well as trained nurses and committees of ladies of the city to do their part. It is a sad thing for the children that parents through prejudice refuse this wonderful aid offered free of charge to help the children grow into men and women sound in body and mind.

A force of workmen under the Highway Department have been busy the past few days north of Sikeston straightening out the trees on the right-of-way that were bent by the sleets of the winter.

While looking through debris in the Masonic Hall at Shawneetown, Ill., after the great flood in January of this year, Penn Parsons found some Masonic receipts signed by the late George B. "Maytime" at the Malone Theatre Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evening of this week was one of the sweetest that has been shown on the screen here for many days. Let us again call the attention of the ladies of Sikeston and vicinity to the wonderful showing of pretty dresses in the shop windows of Sikeston. We may be too old to notice these pretty flouncy things, but we can visualize the wearer of such as being very pretty, and we hope we will never grow too old to like to look at pretty dresses and the wearers thereof.

Building a Better State

Poverty in Missouri

Last week's article showed that Missouri was the pioneer in the field of mothers' allowances and that, although our law was passed in 1911 and by 1931 forty-five states and the District of Columbia were appropriating nearly thirty-four million dollars a year for mothers' aid, Missouri had done little.

It showed also that Missouri had not taken advantage of our part of the $25,000,000.00 appropriated by the federal government to the states on a certain matching basis for aid to dependent children in a family home although our citizens are paying in taxes their proportion of the grants to state for such purposes.

Does Missouri Have Any Needy Children

There is no question but that throughout the state of Missouri children in the care of a needy mother or other close relative are deprived of the rights of childhood for lack of adequate support.

You, dear readers, need only consult your own church benevolent committee or the records of your relief office to learn the quality of need that exists. The following stories collected in 1934 are about actual families living in Missouri at that time. One deals with Mrs. J., 33, (the mother), and her eight children ranging from thirteen to one year of age.

A Tragic Case

"The father died after a lingering illness a little more than a year ago. Shortly after the death of the father, the twins were born, the family are living in an old deserted school house. The mother is not the sort that complains nor lets her worries be known, but she appreciates any work that she can get or anything that is done for her.

"Whenever she can get work, the oldest girl stays out of school and takes care of the smaller children. She worked all she could while we had women working on the CWS. They depend upon neighbors for their fuel, food and clothing.

"About three weeks ago, one of the twins died of pneumonia and the other one is now ill. They are without income or resources from anywhere and the mother can hardly ever get work, for she can't leave the small children and babes to have the others stay out of school. A mothers' allowance will benefit all of that family."

Another case is that of Mrs. A., 51, (the mother), and her five children:

Poverty Stricken Family

"The father of this family has been dead for several years. He was in a hospital for the insane for years before his death. The family has practically always been in needy circumstances. There have been thirteen children in the family, but three have died, and now five of them are married.

"Two of the older sons helped her until they married, and now they are in no position to help her. They have no other close relatives. She takes in washings and does any work she can, regardless of how heavy or difficult the work is. She depends on charity, county aid, and community help for her living."

A third case is that of Mrs. Y., 52, (an Aunt), and her four nephews and nieces: "Parents dead; aunt's husband dead. Unable to provide necessities." The same type of stories could be multiplied thousands of times and apply to families in Missouri.

Recovery Notes

(Compiled by Dwikht H. Brown, Secretary of State.)

Farm income of the nation is now running more than $100,000,000 a month ahead of last year, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announces. Prices are 10 to 30 per cent above a year ago. In Missouri, farm products reached a new four-year high for the month of March, quotations on 32 products touching the highest peaks since 1933.

Life insurance presidents are getting more satisfaction out of the monthly reports on new sales, for the long row of minus signs is now changing to plus signs. March was particularly gratifying, the best March since 1931. Ordinary life sales jumped 24 per cent over last year, industrial sales were up 5 per cent, group sales 39 per cent, total up 19 per cent. The first quarter gain was close to 9 per cent for all classes.

Loadings of revenue freight for the week ending April 10 totaled 716,044 cars, the Association of American Railroads announces. This was 94,201 cars or 15.1 per cent more than for the corresponding week last year, and 129,476 cars or 22.1 per cent more than during the corresponding week two years ago.

Department store and mail order concerns are now recording substantial sales gains over the corresponding 1936 period, according to Poor's Investment Advisory Service. For the three months through March 1937, turnover for the country's department stores was 14 per cent over that shown for the first three months of 1936, and the two dominant mail order companies recorded sales of $181,148,000, an increase of 24 per cent.

A new high production record for the steel industry in this country is announced by the American Iron and Steel Institute. It reports operations for the week ending April 24 rose to 91.3 per cent of capacity form 90.3 per cent the previous week, equivalent to a tonnage output of 1,196,000 tons for the week. This topped the May 1929, peak of 1,193,284 tons.

LEAD DEPOSITED BY HOT WATERS, GEOLOGIST SAYS

Columbia, Mo., April 21.—The source of the lead concentrated in the "lead belt" of Southeastern Missouri is dealt with in a paper prepared here by Dr. W. A. Tarr, professor of geology at the University of Missouri, who is attempting to solve the 75-year-old geological mystery of whether lead comes from the interior or the earth, from the rocks around the deposit, or was from streams.

Dr. Tarr has spent 20 years studying the lead deposits and his research has been furthered by grants of funds from the National Research Council. His paper, "Economic Geology," is considered the most detailed account of the origin of these deposits yet given.

In his paper he states that galena, the source of the lead, was brought in by hot waters given off from a molten mass deep in the earth's crust; that the solutions rose through joints in the rocks nearly to the surface, where they spread out through the Bonne Terre dolomite, dissolving part of it and leaving grains and crystals of the galena in the place of the material solved. In places the lead replaced entire beds, a foot in thickness.

Dr. Tarr said nearly 5,000,000 tons of lead have been removed, and probably double that amount still remains underground.

NEW MADRID COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

By Milus R. Davis

While up at Jefferson City a few days ago, we learned that House Bill No. 256 had just passed the house and that it was likely to go through the Senate. This is a serious blunder and rural Missouri should express their objections.

This bill is called a tax relief bill which sounds good, and it will give relief to Kansas City and St. Louis, but will raise rural taxes. The sales tax is paid by both poor and rich which is not bad if the funds are used for the relief of the poor. But here we have a proposal to use $2,000,000 to help the strong schools, which is working in the reverse and obstructing the crusade for equalization. Only four of New Madrid County schools will get any money from this bill, and these four schools would receive more from the $2,000,000 if it were left in the regular school fund as it should be. Also all of our other districts would share in it, if left in regular fund.

Our 8000 rural teachers of Missouri are now receiving an average of $496 for 8 months, and this should be corrected before giving aid to St. Louis where grade teachers now receive $2400 per year and where the tax levy is now actually less than the average levy of the high school districts of this county.

The St. Louis papers talk about the abundance of state aid, and it is true that state aid has increased. But they have not told you that our assessed valuations have decreased. In 1926 the valuation of New Madrid County was $25,447,036 while in 1936 it was only $11,822,551, or a decrease of 53 1/2 per cent. The result is that our county taxes for school purposes have been automatically cut about $119,370.00, even when the tax levy remains the same.

In addition to this cut in valuation, the tax rates have also been cut in many districts to give further relief to property owners. These cuts over the state mean that we must have millions of state aid to replace the loss from taxes, and this increase in state aid does not mean the raising of teachers' salaries, but merely a shift from the property tax to a state tax, such as income and sales tax.

Also, another reason why increased state aid has not raised salaries of teachers is the fact that transportation costs have increased. Millions are being spent on buses and this cost comes indirectly from teachers' salaries.

Everyday Cooking Miracles

BY VIRGINIA FRANCIS

Director Hotpoint Electric Cookery Institute

"In the spring a young man's fancy" may turn to thoughts of love, as the poet says, but in this practical age his "fancy" is more apt to turn to thoughts of the delicious dishes that the season ushers to the table. As a matter of fact, don't we all look forward to the first strawberry shortcake or the first tender-juicy morsel of spring lamb fragrant with mint sauce? And the first dish of succulent stewed rhubarb after the winter's heavier dishes is as refreshing and welcome as a sea breeze on a sultry day.

Speaking of rhubarb, here is a perfectly grand way to serve this luscious pink fruit—Rhubarb Cheese Pastry Tarts. With your miracle electric range you can prepare them in no time at all. The rhubarb will cook in double-quick time on the new flat-top Calrod units of the Hotpoint electric range; and the cold oven cookery made possible by the miracle oven eliminates one step in your baking procedure—that of preheating the oven. Let's start with the pastry recipe first for it's the foundation of this dessert.

Cheese Pastry

(Makes 8 small tart shells)
1 3/4 cups general purpose flour
1/2 cup American cheese (grated)
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup ice water
1/2 cup shortening (approximately)

Sift together the flour and salt. Cut in the shortening and add the with the evenly browned tarts that the controlled heat of the cold oven "bakes" method turns out.

And now, here is a "very special" rhubarb filling for these tart shells:

Rose Rhubarb

2 cups rhubarb (cut in 1" pieces)
3/4 cup sugar
3/4 cup boiling water

Cook rhubarb, sugar, and boiling water on the high heat of the Calrod surface unit for 5 minutes, then switch to low for 5 minutes. Add tapioca, stir well, cook 15 minutes longer on low heat. Remove from heat, add orange juice; cool. Fill baked tart shells, top with whipped cream or meringue.

Notice how the flexibility of the heat from the flat-top Calrod unit puts surface cookery on a scientific time basis. There's no guesswork about it! And incidentally, pans fit these new flat surface units so snugly that not only is the cooking process speeded up, but fuel and time are saved as well.

BILL TO TRANSFER $2,500,000 IN FIRE REFUNDS DIES

Jefferson City, Mo., April 27.—Inquiry disclosed today that "death on the informal calendar" has overtaken a House bill specifically designed to transfer to the state escheat fund about $2,500,000 as yet unrefunded to policyholders in the old 10 per cent fire insurance rate litigation terminated in 1929.

As was developed a month ago in an inquiry by the House Insurance Committee, the return of small sums to policyholders has proven to be an expensive proposition, it having cost $195,000 to return $32,000, with citizens of Jefferson City getting the lion's share of the $195,000 in the form of fees and salaries.

Representative Edgar J. Keating of Kansas City, author of the now defunct escheat bill, told a reporter today he purposely permitted the death of the measure, realizing "after full consideration that it was a bad bill."

He said he feared that it might interfere with disbursement of federally-impounded funds in the 16 2-3 per cent rate case in accordance with the so-called 80-20 compromise, and he is of the belief legal machinery now exists under which the fund may be ultimately transferred to the state through intervention of the Attorney General's office.

Informal inspection of the bill by an assistant Attorney General today brought forth the opinion that the bill would have fulfilled its mission. The Assistant Attorney General said he knew of no law under which the Attorney General could bring about transfer of the fund to the State Treasury.

Keating's bill was introduced March 1 and approved by the House Insurance Committee March 9. Placed on the informal calendar March 15, it was relegated to the legislative graveyard on March 29, its author having failed to ask perfection within the specified period of 10 days.

Checks disbursed by the custodians, Representative H. P. Lauf and Lewis H. Cook, have averaged $2.33 each. Lauf and Cook have each received $55,000 for their services as custodians and commissioners, while Gil Lamb, their attorney, has drawn $13,260 in monthly fee allowances but has left untouched a $20,000 flat fee authorized in March, 1936, by Circuit Judge Nike Sevier of Cole County. In addition, there is a large office force pay roll.

About half of the money is on deposit, but drawing no interest, in the Central Missouri Trust Company, of which Howard Cook, brother of Lewis H. Cook, is president.

E. Emmett O'Malley, Superintendent of Insurance, and Attorney General Roy McKittrick have opposed the fee allowances, which are before the Missouri Supreme Court on appeal.

GOV. STARK TO SIGN CHILD LABOR BILL

Jefferson City, Mo., April 27.—Gov. Stark indicated this afternoon he would sign the Kinney child labor bill which today completed its legislative journey through the House of Representatives and now awaiting executive sanction.

The House passed the bill by a vote of 83 to 2. It passed the Senate several weeks ago. There was virtually no opposition to the measure from the floor of the House.

Gov. Stark said that he was opposed to child labor, although he had never taken a position on the proposed child labor amendment to the Federal Constitution, ratification of which was turned down recently by the House. He said the Kinney bill was perhaps the most appropriate legislation of its character that could be put into the statute books at this time.

Child labor is defined in the bill as the employment of children under 16 in connection with the manufacture of the products of a mill, workshop, cannery or factory and employment of persons under 18 in a mine.

POLITICIANS SPECULATE ON 1940 PRESIDENTIAL RACE

Washington, April 26.—Former President Herbert Hoover probably will return to the political arena within a few weeks with a series of speeches attacking the Roosevelt administration.

Some political observers suspect a move by the former President toward obtaining the 1940 Republican nomination. He will be 66 years old when the Republican national convention meets in June, 1940.

Coincident with news of Hoover's plans, there is a sustained murmur of speculation here about a third term candidacy for President Roosevelt. Some of this speculation may be attributed to those who allege the President has "dictatorial" ambitions. But a real factor in it is the present lack of standouts Democratic or New Deal candidates to succeed Roosevelt.

The list of potential successors includes Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, who is likely to be at the top of any list compiled; Paul V. McNutt, former governor of Indiana and now high commissioner to the Philippines; Senator A. Harry Moore, New Jersey; Gov. George H. Earle, Pennsylvania; Gov. Frank Murphy, Michigan; Senator Bennett C. Clark, Missouri, and Senator Harry F. Byrd, Virginia.

Roosevelt referred to a third term in his March 9 "victory dinner" speech here, as a "horrid thought."

That statement generally was accepted as a renunciation of any third term prospects. Some persons, however, interpreted it to mean that he might seek a third term if his goals had not been gained by 1940.

Hoover's return to political activity will displease many Republican leaders who cannot forget the wreckage of their party after his first term. There are shrewd political observers, however, who believe he would have been a stronger candidate last year than was Gov. Alf M. Landon.

Battle of the Balloons

With Paris surrounded by German troops during the Franco-Prussian War, balloons came into widespread use as a means of escaping the beleaguered city as well as for carrying mail and taking observations on the enemy troops.

Felix Nadar, one of the founders of the "balloon mail," was bound for Paris from Tours one afternoon in 1870 when he noticed another balloon in the air. Nadar hauled up the French flag on his rigging and was relieved to see the pilot of the other balloon display the same colors.

The wind drove the balloons within a short distance of each other. As Nadar was about to wave a greeting, he saw the pilot of the other balloon drop the tricolor of France and hoist the German flag. Nadar reached for his rifle and opened fire. The German balloonist did likewise, fired a few shots, then gave up the duel, dumped ballast and soared up beyond range of the Frenchman's gun. The first aerial encounter between a Frenchman and a German had ended—forty-four years before the World War. Some four tons of mail and 150 people were ferried out of Paris via the Balloon Poste.

An old man fell for a fountain of youth advertisement. He was instructed to take six pills, one

MASS MEETING TO BE HELD AT BIBLE TEMPLE SUNDAY

There is every indication that by Sunday night the Leiske Evangelistic Party of the Bible Temple three blocks south of the Shoe Factory will have a capacity crowd. Considerable public interest has been aroused about the mass meeting that is announced for Sunday night, at which time the Evangelist Leiske will answer, by public request, the question: "Is Saturday or Sunday the Christian Sabbath?" Mr. Leiske says that "as judgment bound souls no one ought to let another man or group of men decide his religious views for him, but that each should study the Word of God for himself and prepare to show himself approved unto God."

"Pots and cups and kettles in the church are a sign according to the Scriptures that the grace of God and the Holy Spirit has departed and has been forsaken as the divine power and ruler in the spiritual organization," said Evangelist Leiske last night in the Bible Temple in his lecture on "The Devil's Church Creed." He continued, "The man who has the love of God in his heart will not commit adultery, he will not steal, he will not covet, and therefore the love of God in the Christian's heart is the fulfilling of the law of God. The law of God, therefore, becomes the foundation of the church creed of Jesus Christ, and 'not' slipped out of the ten commandments minus the love of God is the church creed of the Devil. That is what we find according to the Scriptures in the beginning of time. God said to man, 'If you transgress and eat of the forbidden fruit you shall surely die,' and the Devil came along and taught man saying, 'Transgress and eat of the forbidden fruit and you shall not surely die, but become like God, and live forever.'"

In conclusion the Evangelist said, "The cups and kettles are not only a sign that we have forsaken the Holy Ghost but that we also have forsaken the church creed of Jesus Christ and substituted the church creed of man." To substantiate his position, he quoted from St. Mark 7:9 "For laying aside the commandments of God ye hold the tradition of man as the washing of cups and pots and many other such like things ye do." And he said unto them, "Full well ye reject the commandments of God that ye may keep your own tradition!"

The subject for tonight at the Bible Temple is a question: "What About the Next War?" A full program will be announced for next week from the platform Sunday night at the Bible Temple.
